I'll admit, the capabilities you have shown are quite impressive for someone with your, uh...
...condition.

That you even have the fine motor skills necessary to grasp a ball, let alone to dribble it across the room, is nothing short of inspirational.

That being said, you didn't make the preliminary cut.
goo?
You're not suited to be a professional basketball player, Mr. Babyhead.

You lack focus. You can't even keep your eye on the ball! On top of that, your technique is atrocious.
GAH!
Oh? I think the footage speaks for itself.
